'Woerner Won't Run Our Show' -- Kahn, Schneider

'Error to Let Novice Control Our Show—Troy Woerner Should Get Experience Elsewhere—Gala Night Show Is Not a Pan-Hel Dance,' Say Composers of Musical.

CUNNINGHAM ADVISES NO BARBS

By MARTIN SPECKTER

Woerner Issues Statement

"They were told they would not run their own show Monday," Troy Woerner stated when interviewed Wednesday. "They were of the erroneous opinion that they had the right to direct the show themselves, since they wrote it. They had even worked out a cast."

"Today, after tryouts, they were definitely told that they could not run the show and that their production was not wanted."

The Gala Day show, a musical program arranged by Adolph Schneider, '37, and Ralph Kahn, '34, has been withdrawn, according to an announcement made by the latter in an interview, Wednesday noon.

The disagreement between the two composers and the Gala Day committee, headed by Troy Woerner, occurred over the question who should have final authority in the production of the show.

"We wrote the show, and if anyone mangles it, we will," stated Kahn in the interview. "It's our brain child, and we're not letting it out for adoption."

'Might Start Now'

According to Schneider, Woerner told the two composers that "since he (Woerner) was going in for producing, he might as well start now."

"It would be a grave error to let a novice have control of our show," said Schneider. "We have already selected a cast, arranged for lyrics, and written the songs. We have gone to the trouble of obtaining an original theme-song for the production. Anyone who has worked with these things, however, knows that a musical show cannot be created at the typewriter. The greater work must be done on the stage, cutting, adding, and revising the script. We feel that we are the only ones fitted and entitled to do that changing. Troy Woerner should obtain his experience elsewhere."

'Give Greeks Leads'

Further disagreement was created, according to Schneider, by the "political policy" of the committee. Schneider said that Glen Cunningham, member of the committee, had told him to "see that the leads were distributed among the sororities and fraternities."

The cast selected by the two at the various tryouts during the past week, included the following:

"We selected the cast upon each individual's merits, and not upon his society affiliations. The Gala Day show is not a Pan-Hel dance. It is a school affair, and whether a man is Greek or Barb makes no difference to us," Kahn asserted.

Kahn and Schneider expressed the hope that the Gala Day committee would see fit to allow the two to have final authority in the production. The two intimated that the committee would have to seek a new show, unless it complied with their request.

The Alpha Sigma Lambda fraternity will have a steak-ry Saturday.

IRISH LITERATURE

A course in Irish literature, to be taught by Prof. Hugh R. Orr, will be introduced for the first time this summer, a bulletin recently issued by the extension division informs us.

The course, which will cover the period of the Irish Renaissance, is an interesting and significant addition to the University's literature courses. Those who know Mr. Orr are aware of his enthusiasm for and rare understanding of the recent Irish literature. Since everyone cannot attend summer school, we hope the course is made a permanent feature of the University English curriculum.

POWER OF THE PRESS: The cinder path to the library was started the very day we thought of writing an editorial about it.

MATHEMATICS

WE were all set to pay a compliment to the head of the mathematics department at Northwestern, when we discovered that we have forgotten his name, and can't find the newspaper clipping that gave us the idea.

We still think the man is deserving of a compliment, however. When the University recently abolished mathematics as a requirement for the A. B. degree, he didn't tear his hair and gnash his teeth. On the contrary, he came right out and said he thought it was a good idea, since lots of people who are brilliant in other fields have difficulty with mathematics.

This difficulty is probably a matter of early "conditioning" only. But even granting this, making mathematics a requirement is hardly the way to overcome it.

There will always be people who want to study mathematics, and they, after all, are the ones who bring joy to a teacher's heart.

Now that vacation is over we can settle down to write those term papers we intended to write during vacation.

Select Candidates For Theta Election

Those who spoke were Edwin Callin, Mary Rigg, and Mary Alice Snider. Edwin Callin, president of the club, announced that he was corresponding with the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of International Relations to secure additional books for the club's library on international affairs.

Nuts to You

By HOWARD WILCOX

By special proclamation of Professor Half Pint Blank, today is education day. Our column shall be devoted to the interests of education.

"The indifference of the modern college student toward the problems of today is a sadder note than the dinner bell to a seasick tourist," sighs Prof. Blank.

"Youth has a fatalistic lack of interest in political affairs. I failed to find any traces of heart trouble in the entire student body the day after I was defeated in the race for clerk of the district dry goods department."

"Very few people know that Roosevelt was president once before."

"There is a lack of interest in every field but the football field."

What about Chesterfield, professor? Or has their contract with The Gateway run out?

"Today I proclaim to be education day," declared the professor, in the third course of an interview in the corner hamburger stand. The interview was so exclusive that the professor smothered his hot dog in mustard before he would talk. "I do not want this news barked about before your paper gets a chance to print it," he explained.

"We must be careful what we read," went on H. P. Blank. "There is much harmful reading matter on the market. Just the other day I read something about Clara Bow's operation. It seems that—"

"What would you advise the student to read?" I asked.

Professor Blank borrowed my pencil and wrote the following list on a sheet of Hotel Jefferson stationery:

BOOKS FOR TO REDE (From Kipling)

On the subject of sociology:
I'M TANKED, I GO HOME NOW, By G. Garbo.

Science and invention:
HOW TO BOIL WATER, by Queen Marie.

THE SIBERIANS DISCOVER SILK PAJAMAS, current in The Cucumber Digest.

Literature:
LITTLE RED RIDING HOOD, by A. Nony Mouse.
NUTS TO YOU, current in The Gateway.

International relations:
MY IRISH MOTHER-IN-LAW, by Tony Spagetto.

Modern problems:
THE CHIGGER IN THE NUDIST COLONY, by U. Scratch Awhile.

"Great work!" I cried, but when I looked up, the professor was gone.

"He choked, so I called the ambulance," Hamburger Joe told me. "He never could swallow more than two dill pickles at a time."

ALL QUESTIONS ANSWERED

—about Cigarettes

As to the cigarette paper on Chesterfields

THIS reel of cigarette paper is sufficient to make 42,000 Chesterfield Cigarettes. It is of the finest manufacture.

In texture, in burning quality, in purity, it is as good as money can buy.

Cut open a Chesterfield cigarette. Remove the tobacco and hold the paper up to the light. If you know about paper, you will at once note the uniform texture—no holes, no light and dark places. Note also its dead white color.

If the paper is made right—that is, uniform—the cigarette will burn more evenly. If the paper is made right—there will be no taste to it and there will be no odor from the burning paper.

Other manufacturers use good cigarette paper; but there is no better paper made than that used on Chesterfields. You can count on that!
